

Calabarzon PNP intensifies efforts vs criminal activities

CALAMBA CITY, Laguna (PIA) — The Police Regional Office Calabarzon is stepping up its law enforcement strategies and anti-criminality campaigns to combat crime and enhance public safety across the region.

According to PRO Calabarzon, with new initiatives like a mobile application for reporting crimes and mobile police units stationed in key areas, the region's police force is working to keep communities safe. These initiatives include the P.O.W.E.R. Services App, a mobile application that individuals can use to report crimes, request emergency assistance, and file complaints.

The Blue Cops on Mobile Wheels (BCMWM) project, a mobile substation operated by uniformed personnel in collaboration with force multipliers, ensures a 24/7 police presence in areas requiring heightened security, such as business districts, alleys, and crowded streets. It also functions as a mini tactical operations center during emergencies, enabling swift coordination and communication among response teams.

PRO Calabarzon said it also continues to strengthen its patrol operations under the RONDA anti-criminality

PHILHEALTH COVERS OUTPATIENT CARE FOR MALARIA

In 2023, the DOH Research Institute for Tropical Medicine (RITM) recorded a 90% increase in malaria cases from the previous year's 3,245 to 6,248. In 2024 however, 72 out of 82 provinces in the Philippines have been declared malaria free. These developments underscore the necessity of recommitting to our efforts towards controlling and eliminating malaria.

With this year's theme for World Malaria Day, "Malaria Ends With Us: Reinvest, Reimagine, Reignite", the World Health Organization (WHO) calls for a renewal of the global commitment to end malaria and urges collective efforts from the international policy level to community and individual action. In line with this, PhilHealth reaffirms the national commitment to eliminate malaria by 2030 through its benefits packages that cover services related to malaria.

Earlier this year, PhilHealth increased its coverage for the following outpatient malaria services from Php 780 to Php 1,170:

- Diagnostic Malaria Smears
- Rapid Diagnostic Test
- Medicines (Artemether +Lumefantrine)
- Consultation, Patient Education, and Counseling

Members can avail these benefits at 1,816 accredited facilities including primary care facilities, outpatient malaria centers, and accredited level 1, 2, and 3 hospitals. Additionally, coverage for malaria without complications is also provided at Php 5,460 at primary care facilities and Php 7,800 at hospitals.

"Ang PhilHealth ay patuloy na sumusupor-ta na makamit ang ating Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) partikular sa pagsisikap na mapuksa ang malaria sa ating bansa. Sa pamamagitan ng Malaria Package, mas mabilis na magkakaroon ng access ang ating mga kababayan sa tamang pagsusuri, paggamot, at pag-iwas sa sakit na ito," said Dr. Edwin M. Mercado, PhilHealth Acting President and CEO.

For more details on the malaria packages and other benefits, members may call PhilHealth's 24/7 touch points at (02) 866-225-88 or at mobile numbers (Smart) 0998-857-2957, 0968-865-4670, (Globe) 0917-1275987 or 0917-1109812. ###

Exploring the Future of Learning: e-Learning Fun Fair in Mauban, Quezon

MAUBAN, Quezon – A group of 20 agriculture students from Mauban came together to explore, engage, and discover innovative e-Learning platforms during the eLearning Fun Fair, an event that promises to shape the future of agriculture in the digital age.

The briefing, held in collaboration with Mauban e-Learning Ville Tech4Ed Center and the Farmers' Information and Technology Services (FITS) Center on April 22, 2025, was designed to provide students with hands-on experience with the latest e-Learning tools, emphasizing their importance in modernizing the agricultural sector.

Discovering Digital Tools for Agricultural Growth

As the world continues to embrace digital transformation, the agricultural sector is also adapting. The e-Learning Fun Fair introduced students to the digital learning tools that are increasingly becoming essential in agricultural education. These tools are part of the e-Extension Program for Agriculture and Fisheries, spearheaded by the Agricultural Training Institute (ATI), under Department Order No. 3, series of 2007. This program helps integrate Information and Communications Technology (ICT) into agricultural extension services, providing farmers, students, and agricultural professionals with greater access to training and knowledge.

The event featured interactive activities, where students tested their newly acquired skills in a fun and engaging manner. One of the highlights of the day was the e-Learning Challenge, an activity designed to engage the students in exploring e-Learning and encourage them to utilize the platform. Participants explored courses covering topics such as crop production, sustainable agriculture, and social technologies, giving them valuable insights to boost their careers.

Dr. Maningas highlighted how digital tools and platforms are transforming the way extension services are delivered, making knowledge and training more accessible to a broader range of people. This encouragement reinforced the importance of the students being proactive in integrating digital learning into their agricultural practices.

Encouragement from Dr. Rolando V. Maningas

Director Dr. Rolando Maningas

During the closing program, Dr. Rolando V. Maningas, Center Director of DA-ATI CALABARZON, expressed his full support for the initiative. He encouraged the students to continue embracing digital learning tools as part of their journey in agricultural education.

"Higit pa sa teknolohiya at sistema, ang tunay na puso ng programang ito ay kayo — ang mga tagapaghatid ng pagbabago sa kani-kanilang mga lugar. Sa bawat kursong tatapusin, sa bawat bagong kaalamang maipapasa, lumilikha tayo ng mas matibay na pundasyon para sa isang modernong agrikultura at mas masaganang kinabukasan para sa ating mga magsasaka at mangingisda," he stated.

Dr. Maningas highlighted how digital tools and platforms are transforming the way extension services are delivered, making knowledge and training more accessible to a broader range of people. This encouragement reinforced the importance of the students being proactive in integrating digital learning into their agricultural practices.

Bridging the Gap with e-Learning

The e-Extension Program aims to strengthen the capacity of the agricultural sector by offering self-paced and facilitated online courses. These courses are designed to enhance technical knowledge and skills in a variety of areas, from crop production to fisheries. Specialized closed-group courses are also available, targeting specific participants to ensure a more focused and practical application of knowledge. This program is a significant step towards modernizing agriculture and empowering the next generation of agricultural professionals.

In addition to the Mauban eLearning Fun Fair, DA-ATI CALABARZON will be hosting additional e-Learning briefings in May. These sessions will provide more opportunities for students and agricultural professionals to explore and understand the benefits of e-Learning in their fields.

Empowering Future Agricultural Leaders

The event was organized by the Information Services Section (ISS) of DA-ATI CALABARZON, aiming to provide the students with valuable insights that will help them grow as future leaders in agriculture. As the knowledge bank of the Department of Agriculture, the ATI CALABARZON Regional Training Center is committed to empowering the youth and the agricultural sector at large through innovative digital learning initiatives.

Gatchalian calls for mobilization of LGUs to boost literacy

MANILA, (PIA) — Senator Win Gatchalian is urging local government units (LGUs) to take action in the fight against illiteracy, aiming for a goal of zero illiteracy nationwide.

Gatchalian's appeal comes in light of the recently released 2024 Functional Literacy, Education and Mass Media Survey (FLEMMS), which indicates that only seven out of ten Filipinos aged 10 to 64 are functionally literate. Functional literacy encompasses the abilities to read, write, compute, and comprehend.

Among Filipinos

aged five to 18, the functional literacy rate stands at 69.2%. Gatchalian emphasized the need for targeted interventions to enhance literacy and numeracy skills by the end of Grade 3.

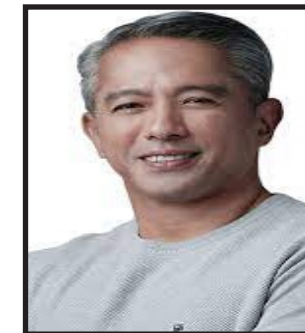

"Reading and counting are foundational skills that our students need, and community and local government involvement is essential to address this issue," said Gatchalian, who chairs the Senate Committee on Basic Education. He also announced that a hearing on the matter is scheduled for the 30th.

To combat illiteracy, Gatchalian has proposed the mobilization of LGUs through the National Literacy Council Act (Senate Bill No. 473). This bill would designate local school boards as the de facto local literacy councils in provinces, cities, and municipalities, allowing for a more coordinated approach to improving literacy rates.

Gatchalian's initiative aims to create a collaborative effort among local governments to ensure that all Filipinos have access to the fundamental skills necessary for their educational and personal development. (JCO/PIA-NCR)

DILG to LGUs: Ensure Day Care, Health Centers Are Open on Election Day

DILG Secretary Juanito Victor C. Remulla

The Department of the Interior and Local Government (DILG) on Friday called on local government units (LGUs) to keep their day care centers open on election day to accommodate parents with young children and ensure their ability to vote without disruption.

"Sa darating na halalan, buksan nila ang kanilang daycare center nang sa ganun puwedeng dalhin ng mga magulang ang kanilang anak doon para makaboto sila nang maayos," said DILG Undersecretary Marlo Iringan.

He also emphasized the need for LGUs to open their health centers on May 12 to handle any medical incidents that may occur as voters head to polling precincts.

The DILG continues to support the Commission on Elections (COMELEC) in spreading key resolutions and guidelines, particularly those concerning vote buying, vote selling, and the misuse of state resources. Through its "Kontra-Bigay" campaign, the Department conducted a nationwide webinar viewed by over 50,000 netizens, focusing on vital COMELEC issuances ahead of the elections.

Earlier, DILG Secretary Juanito Victor "Jonvic" C. Remulla issued Memorandum Circular No. 2025-016, directing LGUs to form Local Government Transition Teams that will handle the inventory of properties, records, and finances in preparation for the assumption of incoming local officials. "We have already directed our field officers to ensure that the transition team is organized and doing the inventory. So that, come July 1, there will be a proper turnover of all these properties, records and finances to the new set of local officials," Iringan said.

additional forces from the barangay that could assist in patrolling, especially in narrow alleys," the Rizal PPO said in a statement.

Maraggun also directed the provincial police force to remain alert and vigilant to prevent and address criminal activities in the province.

Meanwhile, the Cavite PPO continues to implement "Patruyang Magilas," a new law enforcement initiative aimed at enhancing police visibility and ensuring a swift response to crime in strategic areas of the province.

According to the Cavite PPO, Patruyang Magilas combines increased police presence with quick and effective intervention in criminal incidents. Under the program, police patrols are stationed in crime-prone and high-traffic areas to ensure greater visibility ty and faster response times.

With these law enforcement initiatives in place, Police Brig. Gen. Kenneth Lucas called on the public to remain vigilant and cooperate with the police.

"We encourage everyone to remain vigilant and actively report any suspicious activities to the authorities. Our success in maintaining safety depends on the collaboration between law enforcement and the public."

He also urged the public to report any suspicious persons or activities promptly by contacting their local police stations or reaching out through the PRO 4A hotlines: 0915-510-8286 or 0998-598-5583.

Vitto also received the Journalism Kampilan Award from Presidential Communications Secretary Jay Ruiz, and was recognized as Best in Forensic Science and Best in General Education.

In his valedictory address, Vitto urged his fellow graduates to stay true to their mission.

"We are no longer just cadets, we are now guardians of peace," he said.

"Look at your parents' faces. See their joy. Let us protect those smiles by staying true to our oaths and living lives that bring honor to our names."

To the Filipino people, the top cadet gave a solemn vow: You are the reason we are here. Buhay man ang kapalit, hindang-hindi namin kayo bibiguin (Even if it costs us our lives, we will never let you down).

The Sinaglawin Class of 2025 is the first batch of PNPA graduates to be deployed exclusively to the police force, in line with Republic Act 11279, which transferred the academy's supervision from the Philippine Public Safety College to the PNPA.

This marks the end of the traditional deployment of PNPA graduates to the Tri-Bureau – PNP, Bureau of Fire Protection and Bureau of Jail Management and Penology. (With Lloyd Calivan/PNA)

Phivolcs expects...p1

24, 2025, to improve the country's monitoring and response systems for earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, tsunamis, and other geotectonic hazards.

The new legislation mandates a five-year modernization program, which will be funded through the national budget and official development assistance. Key components of the program include the acquisition of state-of-the-art monitoring equipment, the expansion of the network of monitoring stations, and the construction of a new headquarters in either Metro Manila or the Clark Special Economic Zone.

Phivolcs will also develop advanced monitoring systems, including machine-learning technologies for forecasting earthquakes, tsunamis, and volcanic activity. Additionally, the modernization initiative will establish a centralized data center, modern laboratories, and a media room for press briefings, along with a learning hub featuring a library and training center.

The law emphasizes a whole-of-government and whole-of-society approach, promoting collaboration with local government units (LGUs), academic institutions, and telecom providers to enhance public information dissemination. It aims to improve risk communication, hazard mapping, and structural enforcement codes.

To support its expanded mandate, Phivolcs will create new positions and offer a revised salary scale along with retention incentives for its personnel. The agency will continue to operate under the Department of Science and Technology (DOST) and will be led by an Executive Director with Undersecretary rank.

The Executive Director is required to submit the comprehensive modernization program to the President within 90 days of the law's enactment. Tax exemptions will be granted for donations, grants, and imported equipment related to the modernization efforts. An annual implementation report will also be provided to the President and Congress.

RA 12180 will take effect 15 days after its publication in the Official Gazette or a widely circulated newspaper. (JVD/PIA-NCR)

Marcos to PNPA grads: Let public feel presence of law

MANILA – President Ferdinand R. Marcos Jr. on Tuesday told the new members of the Philippine National Police (PNP) to uphold their posts with courage and integrity, emphasizing the need for visible and principled law enforcement as the country faces various challenges.

Speaking at the graduation of the Philippine National Police Academy (PNPA) Sinaglawin Class of 2025 in Silang, Cavite, Marcos told the 206 new police lieutenants to live up to the ideals of public service at all times, especially when their principles are being put to test.

“There will be moments that will test your principles and your convictions. But whenever those days come and doubts creep in, remember who you are and why you chose this path,” Marcos said.

Marcos acknowledge the difficulties confronting the PNP, including internal issues and public perception, but expressed confidence that the new batch of young law enforcers can help steer the institution back to the ideals of honor and professionalism.

“Always take to heart your oath to our Republic, your duty to uphold and defend the constitution, your responsibility to the citizens of our country,” he said.

The President called on the new officers to be a constant and reassuring presence in communities.

“My dear officers, this country will never ask you to be perfect, but it will ask you to be present. Be there. Let our people feel your presence, feel the presence of their law enforcement, feel the presence of the law,” he said.

“This is your chance to make a difference,” Marcos added. “You’re coming this far tells me and the entire Filipino nation that you are ready and that you are prepared.”

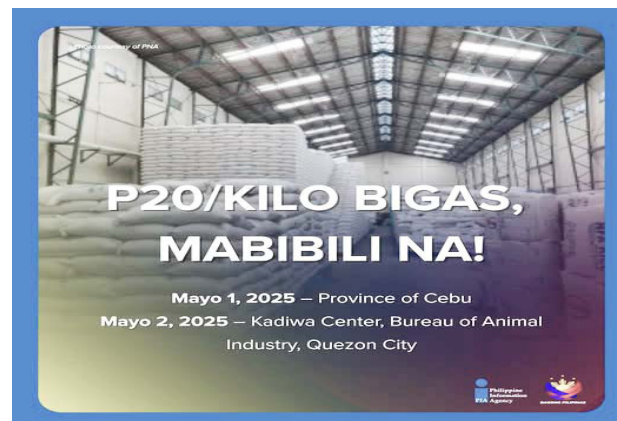

The Chief Executive handed diplomas to the 206 graduating cadets, including the Presidential Kampilan Award to Class Valedictorian Marc Joseph Vitto of Gloria, Oriental Mindoro.
