Strengthen R&D for improved coffee productivity: Dar

INDANG, Cavite -- Agriculture Secretary William Dar has called for more research to improve the country's declining domestic coffee production instead of relying mostly on imports.

In his keynote message read by DA-Bureau of Agricultural Research (BAR) Director Nicomedes Eleazar at the opening of the 2nd National Coffee Education Congress held at the Cavite State University (CvSU) here, Dar cited the need for collaborative efforts of researchers, experts, advisers to address several issues and concerns facing the local coffee industry.

One of the issues is that the local coffee output cannot keep up with the continuous increase in the demand for coffee as fueled by the growing popularity of coffee drinking among the younger generation.

In 2018, the country produced about 30,156 metric tons of green coffee beans from 113,352 hectares of farms planted to coffee which, according to Dar, constitutes only 11 percent of the coffee requirement for the year.

To fill in the demand, the country imported nearly 253,000 metric tons of coffee, an increase of 55,000 metric tons from 2017.

"This is due to poor yield, poor quality of beans, unstable prices, poor market output, erratic climate, and limited capital and investments," he said.

He encouraged experts, researchers, faculty members and students to consider the challenges as opportunities to strive harder in improving the coffee industry.

The DA has been working on research needs, specifically the development of climate-change resistant varieties, natural techniques, and strategies for low-cost, high-yield production, and organic or natural method for fighting pests and diseases.

National Coffee Research, Development and Extension Center (NCRDEC) Director Gerry Castillo said the coffee congress, themed "Unifying Industry Initiatives Towards Sustainability of Philippine Coffee," aimed to converge research and extension initiatives of the Philippine coffee industry.

"Last year, we highlighted the roles of State Universities and Colleges in the development of the coffee industry, now we're highlighting the contributions of the industry and agree on the specific roles where the SUCs can come in to help," he said.

SABAYANG PATAK KONTRA POLIO TEAMS UP WITH PRIVATE SECTOR

Health Secretary Francisco T. Duque III today led the vaccination of children below five years old in St. Luke's Medical Center (SLMC) in Quezon City.

The Department of Health (DOH) is partnering with civic groups, non-government organizations, and the private sector to support the synchronized polio vaccination campaign and cover all eligible children, leaving no one behind.

The Sabayang Patak Kontra Polio campaign started its third round of vaccination in Metro Manila and the second round of vaccination in Mindanao last November 25 that will last until December 7.

"We are pleased that private hospitals are supporting our campaign to stop polio from spreading. We are encouraging parents who have private doctors to have their 0 to 59 months old children vaccinated with polio regardless of their vaccination status," Secretary Duque declared.

SLMC is one of the private hospitals that pledged their support to the national campaign, following DOH's confirmation of eight (8) human cases of Polio and 26 environmental samples positive for the virus.

"We would like to appeal once more to our parents and caregivers to have their children who are less than 5 years old vaccinated against this debilitating disease. The DOH is working hand-in-hand with our partners to ensure a healthy future for our children," the Health Chief concluded.

Siao also proposes an automatic license and professional civil service eligibility for sports players who win international competitions recognized by the world sports governing bodies, such as the Southeast Asian Games, the Asian Games, world championships, and Olympic qualifying tournaments.

"The sports license would be also unique because both young and adult athletes who win in international competition should automatically qualify for and be awarded both the PRC license and matching professional civil service eligibility," Siao emphasized.

Cavite local tourism and planning officers undergo capacity building

GENERAL TRIAS CITY, Cavite (PIA) -- The Provincial Tourism and Cultural Affairs Office (PTCAO) in partnership with the Department of Tourism conducted another capacity-building activity, entitled Local Tourism Development – Strategic Action Planning Workshop held at The Bayleaf Hotel here.

The three-day activity gathered almost a hundred local tourism and planning officers from LGUs in the cities and municipalities in the province aimed to equip them with the appropriate foundation in formulating sustainable tourism development plans.

Provincial Planning Development Coordinator Mr. Jesus I. Barrera presented the province's strategic direction anchored on the sustainable development goals.

“The governor’s ultimate objective is for the province to be the safest place to live and invest in because he believed that in order to achieve economic growth, safety must come first and all others will follow,” said Mr. Barrera.

Traffic congestion, water and solid waste management that may affect the tourism industry were some of the other concerns discussed as priorities in the executive legislative agenda.

Mr. Barrera also added that the strategic objectives under the thrust on tourism heritage, culture and the arts development will contribute in the Seal of Good Local Governance compliance of the province.

Mr. Ramon Tiango Jr. resource speaker from the Department of Tourism, discussed updates on various tourism trends saying that, “There’s really no stopping tourism. Planners must learn how to localize and adapt the method of data collection as to profiles and demographics of the market since the tourism industry continues to evolve.”

As for the trends and value of identifying attainable and sustainable local development plan for tourism, Mr. Tiango reminded everyone to also look back on the supply and demand, and consider impacts, to avoid over-tourism which may involve antagonized local community.

Further, insights on tourism cluster strategy, circuit development, destination branding along with tourism resilience strategies guided the participants on their workshops. These focused on designing a development framework, formulating the tourism strategic action plan and integrating a DRR-CCA and acc-

QUEZON CITY (PIA)-- The Chair of the House Committee on Civil Service and Professional Regulation wants the country's career athletes, coaches, trainers, and officials recognized and licensed as full-fledged professionals "with all the responsibilities, privileges, benefits, and civil service eligibility commensurate to their different levels of expertise."

"In truth and in reality, they have made sports their occupation and for this reason, they all deserve to be formally recognized in our laws as sports professionals," he said.
